Privacy Policy of Study Association Proto

This is the privacy policy of Study Association Proto (hereafter just “S.A. Proto”). It describes in detail what information S.A. Proto collects and processes, who can access that information and what information it shares with other parties. This document aims to provide users of our website and other ICT services with an understanding of what the association knows about them, and provide easy reference to how that information can be edited/deleted.

This document has replaced the chapter on “Personal information” in the Rules and Regulations of S.A. Proto since the General Member Meeting on October 11, 2017 and is refered to in the current Rules and Regulations of S.A. Proto as 'the privacy policy'.

You can also read the privacy policy on-line.

The privacy policy should be viewed as a dynamic document with transparent revision history. Everybody can see what changes have been made to it and when those changes have been made. The privacy policy is made and maintained by the board of S.A. Proto together with the members of the Have You Tried Turning It Off And On Again committee. Changes to the privacy policy can be made for several reasons, including but not limited to: addition of a new service for S.A. Proto, new external partners, suggestions from members and instructions from the General Member Meeting. The latter can make binding decisions as to the content of the privacy policy. Questions regarding the privacy policy can be sent to privacy@proto.utwente.nl. In general, members and owners of user accounts are not notified of changes to this document to prevent unwanted e-mails. If you want to be notified of changes to this privacy policy, please indicate so in the `E-mail lists` section on your dashboard.

Collection

In general, your personal data is collected by S.A. Proto in one of the following ways:

- Provided by you, for example by submitting the data into the website
- Generated by you in the course of using services offered by S.A. Proto, for example by purchasing something or choosing to become part of a committee
- Provided by the university, as explained later in this document

If data is acquired in any way other than those above, it will be specifically mentioned in this document.

Insight

Almost all of the information S.A. Proto has accumulated about you can be reviewed by you on the website of S.A. Proto on your dashboard, your profile page or on the relevant part of the S.A. Proto website. It should be explicitly stated that it is always the intent of S.A. Proto to be transparent about the information the association has about you. If you wish to receive an overview of information S.A.

Proto has about you that cannot be found on the website, please send an e-mail to privacy@proto.utwente.nl with your request. We aim to reply to your request within one week, but reserve the right to take up to four weeks for our reply.

You will receive an e-mail once a year reminding you that you still haven account at the website and that we thus process your personal information. In this e-mail, we will include the most important data we process of you and ask you to visit the dashboard to review your personal information for correctness.

In general, only the board of the association, the IT administrators and specific committees can see (part) of the data S.A. Proto has about you. The latter concerns committees that need access to some of your information in order to provide you or the association services. Examples of this are to predict what stock to buy for the OmNomCom, or to prepare activities.

Any personal data supplied to S.A. Proto is never shared with or sold to third parties to achieve economic gain on either side, with only one exception. Proto shares some basic information like your name and e-mail address with the University of Twente to establish to height of the financial grand the association receives from the faculty.

If you wish to object to S.A. Proto sending you information, you may do so via the website, or by contacting the association board.

For information on how to object to usage of other personal data, please refer to the page on specific usage of your personal data.

Third parties

If S.A. Proto wishes to outsource processing of personal information of members of S.A. Proto to a third party, an agreements needs to be established with this third party that establishes what data it will process, how it may process that data and what should happen with the data if the outsourcing is terminated. This agreement should ensure that the third party processed the data in a secure way and only for the intended purposes.

Outsourcing may only happen for services that S.A. Proto needs but cannot or should not provide itself, the most notable example being banking and payment services.

Third parties may receive economic gain from the outsourcing only to the extent that Proto may provide fair compensation for the services provided by the third party.

Any forms of outsourcing processing of your personal data is mentioned on the page describing specific usage of your personal data.

Specific usage

This document does not go into exact detail and rather serves as a high-level overview of the intentions of S.A. Proto. If you wish to have a more specific insight in the information S.A. Proto has about you, please see the page on specific usage of your personal data.
